

Edinburgh

Towards unity in mission

1910 -2010

The Hayes, Swanwick

11-12 October 2010

(lunch-time to lunch-time)

This Conference marks the centenary of the Edinburgh Missionary Conference, often understood as the beginning of the modern Ecumenical Movement. It was a singular moment in the history and theology of mission and world Christianity.

Speakers:

The Revd Dr Jeremy Morris

(Dean of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, and a church historian who has written widely about twentieth century church history)

Dr Kirsteen Kim

(Associate Senior Lecturer at Leeds Trinity University College, and a missiologist who has published a number of works about mission and world Christianity)

Fr James Hanvey SJ

(Lecturer in Systematic Theology, Heythrop College, London, and a systematic theologian with particular interests in the Trinity and ecclesiology)

The cost of the conference is £85
